The INTEGRAL Scienca Data Centre (ISDC)

Thierry Courvoisier(ISDC)

Abstract

We present the main features of the gamma ray mission INTEGRAL due for launch in 2002. We will describe the data generated by the satellite and the set up of the science data analysis as it will be perceived by the user community.

This paper is proposed on behalf of the ISDC consortium and staff.

CATEGORY: SOLAR SYSTEM AND MISC